AOL

At AOL, we know that the Internet can play a powerful role in bringing communities together, encouraging giving, helping people find volunteer opportunities, helping improve the safety and health of our children and our population at large. We have a long history of leveraging the power of the Internet to benefit those in need and improve communities.

AOL is a strong supporter of children's cancer research and offers our online audience a wealth of programming, information and community tools for the growing numbers affected by this devastating disease. We are excited to use the power of our reach and programming to expand our efforts in this area through support of the Stand Up To Cancer initiative.

AOL® is a global Web services company that operates some of the most popular Web destinations, offers a comprehensive suite of free software and services, runs one of the largest Internet access businesses in the U.S., and provides a full set of advertising solutions. A majority-owned subsidiary of Time Warner Inc., AOL LLC and its subsidiaries have operations in the U.S., Europe, Canada and Asia. Learn more at AOL.com, and visit AOL Health to find cancer-related information, programming and community.
